STUDIES FOR 2018

SPIRITUAL GROWTH STUDY: Embracing Wholeness: An Earth Perspective for Covenantal Living

This study builds on Living as a Covenant Community by exploring the ways God has called us to live in covenantal relationship with all of creation and challenges readers to work toward stronger and healthier relationships with creation, their communities, themselves, and God. Each chapter explores both our personal and corporate responsibilities to those around us and addresses current issues, such as climate change, social responsibility, and justice concerns. The author encourages readers to consider the biblical command to love ourselves and to explore vocation, identity, play, happiness, and the fall, among other topics. Other chapters in the text explore the more practical side of covenantal living and work toward helping the reader to develop a covenantal living plan or rule of life.

ISSUE STUDY: What About Our Money? A Faith Response

This study explores how we relate to money within the context of our faith. Through this connection between our faith and our money, readers discover how to live closer to God and God's people, even in our North American culture that is so deeply defined by money. The author explores the biblical foundation of abundance (sufficiency), which stands in opposition to the scarcity narrative our culture teaches us from the time we are young. Readers will explore their own relationship with money, the money choices available to us, and how we individually and collectively respond in light of our faith. The text takes into account that we are all in different places, in different financial circumstances, health, family structure, race, age, and stage of life, and each of us has our own values and capacities.
